My Mother-in-Law.

- I married a woman of sweetness and truth, And beauty without any flaw; But over my head hung, like Damocles' sword, That horror, a mother-in-law.
- So upright and downright in person and looks, She embodied the dismal old saw Of a scolding and pushing and worrying and bothering
- Old hore of a mother-in-law. The decided to live with us. Chaos and wreck Would be the result, I foresaw :
- So I gave my cigars and my meerschaum, with groans, To a friend with no mother-in-law.
- One night, as we sat by a blazing wood fire, When the days had grown chilly and raw, How cozy and nice you would look with a pipe Don't you smoke?" said my mother-in-law.
- Did my ears hear aright? Yes, bless her dear heart! " Don't you smoke?" was the first happy straw To " show how the wind blew" and clear up the clouds Twixt me and my mother-in-law.
- And, oh! she's the kindest and dearest and best Old darling that ever I saw ! My mother I love and my wife I adore, But I worship my mother-in-law.

VARIETY.

- Thirteen is an unlucky number of persons to ave at a dinner party—particularly if there is aly enough to go around comfortably for relve.— Philadelphia Bulletin.
- An Experiment .- If you want to find how arly a boy can get up, give him a ticket to go own the harbor. He will walk five miles to ake the sunrise boat and make it a long day. "And what did you do for food, Pat, when the provisions gave out?" asked a bystander. "Shure, and we dined on one of th' officers. 'Twas the first nate we'd had in a fortnight," was the reply .-
- New York Weekly. A Teutonic gentleman entered a drug store, rth a handful of currency, and asked a rather en clerk in attendance if he had " a fife tollar wishing to change his small notes for a of that denomination. The clerk looked at e Dutchman with bulging eyes, and replied at the highest priced pills in the store were ly two dollars a box .- Norristown Herald.
- We had intended taking a little vacation this immer, but on inquiry learned that we didn't wn enough property by some $680,000 to have he hay fever, and that nobody was considered anybody that didn't have it. However, we have nanaged to get in debt $7.80 since then, and think we can make it next Summer, if the slate olds out .- Burlington Hawkeye.
- College sophomore and belle of the ball : He I cannot survive your heartlessness. I shall down to an early grave a lonely, brokenearted man. I ask of you only this token of our remembrance: When I am dead, plant mething green over me. She-So I will, the ery greenest thing I can find.
- PROFANITY.-Cowper was an English poet. e wrote beautiful hymns. He wrote some lines, so, about swearing, which it would be worth hile for every body in the land to learn
- It chills my blood to hear the blest Supreme, Rudely appealed to on each trifling theme; Maintain your rank, vulgarity despise; To swear is neither brave, polite, nor wise.'
- Unterrified Frontiersman-" What bandygged old rooster is that climbing them stairs? Reporter-" That's one of our respected citins, and a member of the grand jury.
- Frontiersman-" You don't say so! Come look at him closer, he is an eligant gentleman, by Jimminy! I have a great veneration for rand juries. Out in my country I have been reman of for the past ten years. Grand juries re a terror for a criminal element, they are."
- Deacon Rathfel asked his family physician last week: "Doctor, you have had such an extended experience at death-beds, and have seen so many people go hence, that I would like to ask you what class are most resigned, and die the happiest?" The aged man cleared his throat and mid: "Well, Deacon, I have not seen so very any deaths, but so far as I have been able to earn, the people who die the happiest are those
- Tim, this won't do; you must take warn-by the fate of your friend O Shaughnessy. Only three night's ago he came home much oberer than you are, but in attempting to blow ont a candle his breath took fire and he exploded blew up-so that his friends in three days have not been able to scrape enough of him together to hold a wake over." "An' do ye mane to tell me that he bust up!" said Tim. Indeed I do, upon my honor," replied the doctor. "Biddy" said Tim, "get me the Bible, Biddy got the Bible, and then Tim knelt down and said : " I sware by the blissid Vargin-ye sure doctor, that he blew up?" "Quite sure," replied the doctor. "Then" replied Tim, "I sware by the blissid Vargin an' the Most High, niver to blow out a candle while I'm drunk
- A young man of Tennessee, searching for the lace in life to fit his frame, writes to a Western CHIP CHANDLERS AND COMMISSION er : " I have been teaching school ever since | Importers and Dealers in General Merchandise, Queen Street quit school about a year ago, but I do not e it. Why didn't he ask for a place in a tread-mill? All what he would have to do would be to stand in a nice, cool place and move his feet once in so often, with denty of opportunity to smoke, read, talk or
- watch his neighbors .- Boston Advertiser. A female Justice of the Peace in Wyoming ferritory was obliged to hear an adultery case in which her husband filled the unenviable posion of defendant. She sentenced him to be anged by the neck until he was dead, and was nxious to have the sentence carried into effect at once, until the attorneys explained to her that she was sitting simply as an examination Court. She then held him in bonds of $18,000,000 to await the action of the Grand Jury, and said she would shoot the first man full of holes that attempted to raise the sureties. Before young aen's debating societies use this information as a argument against female suffrage, they will be well to consider just how some male monster ould have felt like acting under similar circum-
